

Mayor Proposal Is Tabled

By KEITH A. OWEN
Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

The triggers on both barrels of Sedalia's political shotgun were jerked vigorously Monday night as charges and countercharges of political bossism were voiced, or rather shouted, at the regular meeting of the City Council.

All was calm at the end of the session after tempers were given time to cool and what might have been Sedalia's only immediate chance for a full-time mayor proposal to be implemented was tabled on a 6-2 vote along strict party lines by the new city council.

With Third Ward Councilman R. S. "Bob" Wells' motion and Second Ward Councilman Ira Knox's second, the council voted to table an ordinance which would have given Sedalia a mayor working full-time for the city as of April 15, 1974. Democrats Jesse "Sonny" Robinson, First Ward, Raymond Bales, Second Ward, Carl Franklin, Third Ward, and Lee Garrison, Fourth Ward, also supported that action while Don Broadus of the First Ward and George Dugan Jr. of the Fourth Ward, both Republicans, opposed it.

"I'm very disappointed... what was the use of asking their (the people's) opinion...?"

Dugan and Bales were sworn in as new councilmen just prior to the discussion.

In an advisory vote at the April 3 election, Sedalians favored the full-time mayor proposition 2,284 to 1,648 while 420 persons thought a city administrator would be best. The vote, however, was not legally binding on the council. The vote to keep the present system out-distanced the full-time mayor option in only two Third Ward precincts of the city's 16 polling places.

The ordinance came before the council when Mayor Jerry Jones had City Clerk Ralph Dedrick read it one time. The mayor then called for discussion and questions.

Wells stood up, said he wanted to be the first to speak, and then moved that the ordinance be tabled.

"I would like it to be shown to me where it will help the people of Sedalia," was Wells' comment about the full-time mayor issue after making his motion to table the ordinance. He added he wanted the ordinance to be more fully discussed before any action was taken on it.

"It seems to me that the people think we should have a full-time mayor," Broadus said following Wells' motion.

Dugan echoed that remark by adding "... the people have spoken."

Wells then commented he wanted to discuss in what way the mayor's full-time duties might overlap into other city officials' fields.

"It was well-discussed prior to the election," Jones asserted. "I don't like the tabling process because it's nothing more than a stall and it will take six councilmen to take it off the table and that may be next to impossible."

Jones then asked Wells if he would consider withdrawing his motion. Wells declined.

"I'm very disappointed..." Jones said, specifically directing his comments toward council Democrats except Robinson. He asked, "What was the use of asking their (the people's) opinion?" if not to act upon it?

"You keep your personal views to yourself... you're the only one who's hounded me on this thing..."

Jones' voice rose as he added, "... your political bosses, (Walter C.) 'Heine' Cramer and Chuck Stockstill, (city Democratic party chairman) don't want it (the full-time mayor ordinance)..." explaining that as the reason for the tabling action.

The volume of the debate went even higher when Franklin, who had been previously silent, joined the discussion.

"You keep your personal views to yourself! You're the only one who's hounded me on this thing. You're wanting a $15,000 to $18,000 job, that's what you're wanting," Franklin told Jones.

Franklin then reiterated, "Nobody else has hounded me on this or told me how to vote."

Jones then asked Franklin if he was finished and received, "Probably not!" in reply.

Jones stated that "the fact remains, those two gentlemen (Cramer and Stockstill) called a special meeting" to decide what would be done concerning the full-time mayor proposition. Jones said the meeting was held at the Pacific Bar and Cafe, Main and Ohio, but did not say when.

"I am not so naive as not to know what the tabling motion is for... democracy has certainly taken a slap in the face," Jones continued. He asked, "how can we think of ourselves as representatives of the people" and "table the ordinance?"

Franklin then mentioned a meeting held April 9 at which only himself, Jones, Dugan and Broadus were present. He charged that no other councilmen were aware of the session and that it was designed to formulate the ordinance read at the council meeting. Franklin also charged that Dugan was Jones' political boss because Dugan allegedly persuaded the mayor to have the ordinance ready Monday instead of waiting until May.

"I hope the voice of the people doesn't get lost under the table."

Jones later told The Democrat-Capital the April 9 meeting was for the purpose of discussing with the new Finance and Tax Committee, of which all three men are expected to be members, issues such as the contract on the proposed Centennial Park concession stand and restrooms as well as tennis courts, a city-wide recreation program and a new salary schedule format promised last year to city employees. Jones said all those items were discussed and that Franklin attended and voiced his opinions on the issues. Jones indicated the meeting was constructive.

Franklin, however, maintained Tuesday morning that "probably 90 per cent of the discussion" centered around how the full-time mayor's salary should be included in the city budget. According to Franklin, Dugan suggested a starting figure of $18,000 with automatic pay increases.

"Although I was at this meeting, I never did later see a copy of the proposed ordinance," Franklin said. "What we saw Monday night was very vague, with no definite references to salary, duties, or hours of service... I didn't want to be handed a blank check."

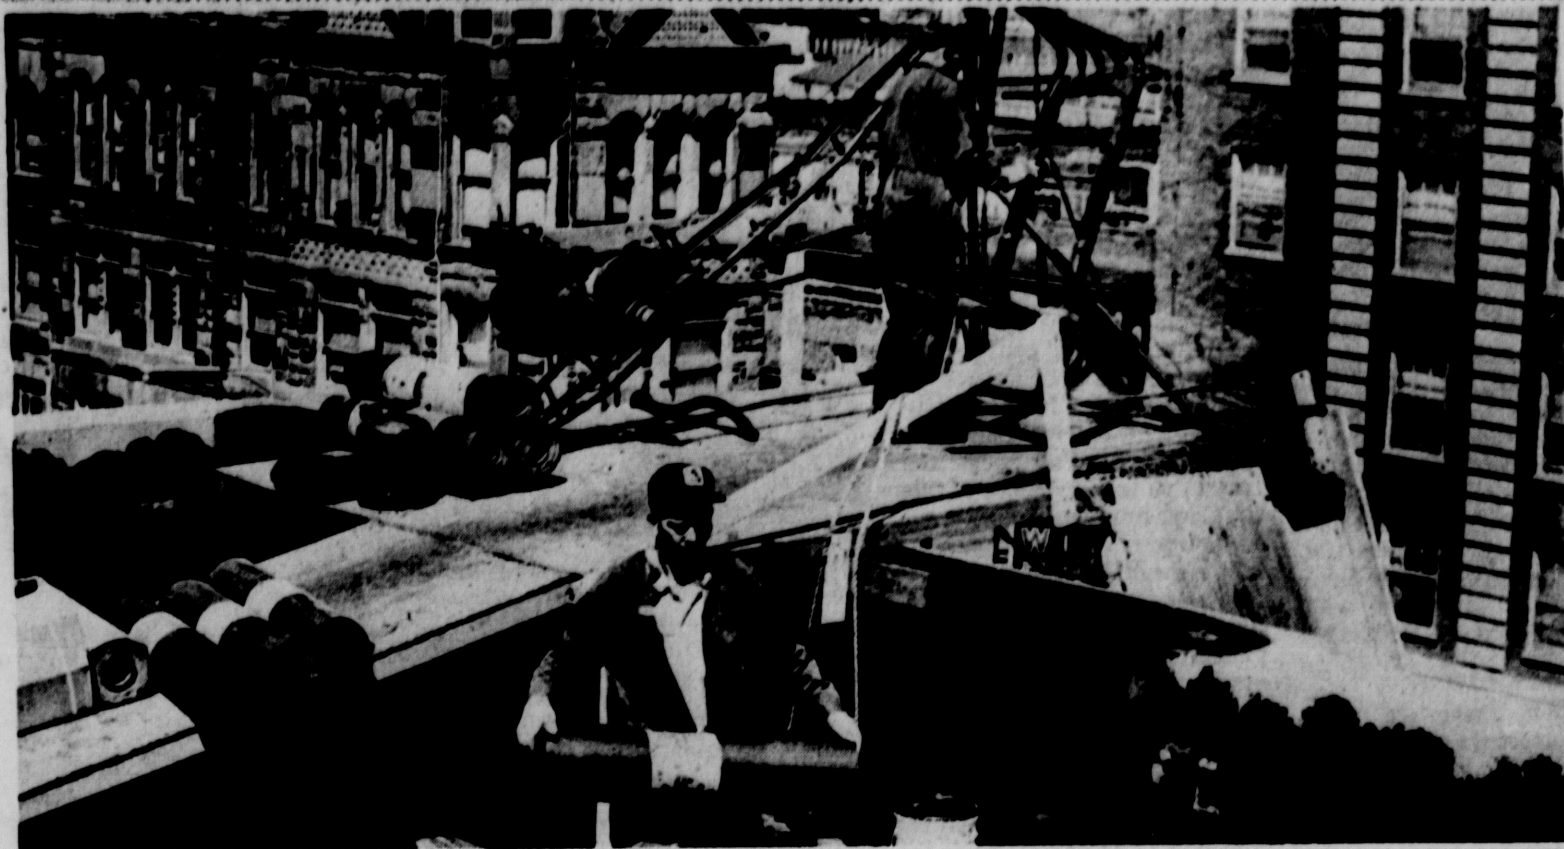

In answer to Franklin's charges in Monday's regular council meeting, Jones said, "I did call together... what I thought would be the new finance committee."

Concerning the full-time mayor issue, Jones said, "I was naive enough to think it would be only a matter of implementation" of the people's vote. "I don't believe my request is out of line not to table this ordinance," the mayor added.

Jones pointed out he favored reading the ordinance only once, letting the issue ride until the next meeting when it would have automatically come up under the topic of "old business." That procedure has been used a number of times in recent years in connection with items councilmen wanted to investigate more thoroughly. No one voiced a reason why Jones' suggestion would be unacceptable.

At one point Wells referred to the tabling method "as the way we've always done it." Jones promptly answered, "No, it's not the way we've always done it. I

North Warns New War Possible

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnam warned today that the renewed U. S. bombing in Laos and South Vietnamese ground thrusts into Cambodia "carry the grave danger of a new and big explosion of war in Indochina."

The warning was published in North Vietnam's official army journal and broadcast by Radio Hanoi.

At the same time, the Laotian Communists claimed that the new U. S. air attacks caused a heavy toll of civilian casualties and property damage.

The Hanoi broadcast said the South Vietnamese military action in Cambodia and the Laotian bombing were "brutal and serious violations of the Vietnam peace treaty that proved that the United States and South Vietnam were plotting to sabotage the peace."

"The United States is warned," the broadcast quoted the journal Quan Doi Nhan Dan as saying, "that these new military plots against the peoples of Indochina carry grave dangers, for which the United States must take full responsibility."

Laotian government sources in Vientiane refused to say whether there were more U. S. air raids in Laos today, but the Laotian premier, Prince Souvanna Phouma, met in Vientiane with U. S. Ambassador G. McMurtrie Godley.

In South Vietnam, the South Vietnamese command reported fighting had dropped to its lowest level since the cease-fire Jan. 28, with 85 Communist violations of the truce in the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. today.

No new fighting was reported along the Cambodian border southwest of Saigon where South Vietnamese forces launched a new clearing operation last week. But more Communist shelling attacks on towns on the Vietnamese side of the border killed three civilians and wounded eight, the Saigon command reported.

The first U. S. bombing in Laos since Feb. 23 was announced in Washington. The Pentagon said it was in response to "a major violation of the cease-fire," the capture by Communist forces of the town of Tha Vieng, on a highway south of the Plain of Jars. Pentagon sources said there were about a dozen flights by B52 heavy bombers and F111 fighter-bombers.

The Communist Pathet Lao said the air strikes began at 6 a.m. Monday "while the Laotian people were celebrating their New Year."

"The bombing has resulted in many damages to the people's properties and lives," a broadcast statement said. "While the local administrators were trying to render assistance to the people in the area, the United States again bluntly assigned warplanes to the same area and dropped bombs, killing and wounding a number of additional people."

Farmers Organize Committee for Unity

By JACK SCHICHT
Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

About 200 farmers representing 10 mid-Missouri counties met at the Ramada Inn here Monday night to publicize the plight of the American farmer in wake of recent consumer criticism of meat prices.

"It's time we stand up and be noticed," said Sam Young, emcee of the event and manager of the Sedalia MFA exchange.

After three speeches and an hour of audience discussion, the group voted to establish a committee to "advise to the consumer the product of the American farmer."

Young was selected to appoint a temporary committee to head the farmers' organization, called "Concerned Farmers of Central Missouri." Young asked one representative from each of the 10 counties to serve on the committee.

Young established the mood of the meeting when he walked up to the podium, clad in blue jeans overalls, a red cap, mud-splattered boots and a sign on his back which read, "I Am Concerned." He introduced the three speakers for the event: Waldo Wheeler Jr., Windsor, vice-president of the Missouri Cattlemen's Association; Allen King, Dadeville, past president of the association; and Derry Brownfield, Jefferson City news commentator for the Missouri Farm Network.

Wheeler denounced the recent boycott against meat and criticized price rollbacks presently under consideration by Congress. "I just hope we get back to the normal law of supply and demand," he said.

He also said the average consumer is unaware that "in the last 12 to 15 years, disposable income has risen 70 per cent while food prices have only risen 38 per cent."

King said the farmer has "waited 20 years for a reasonable profit. And then we see looming over our heads the possibility this may be taken away from us," he added, referring to proposed Congressional meat price rollbacks.

He said probably the farmers' biggest problem is convincing the urbanites of the difficulties farmers presently are facing. "If people like us do go out of business, there will be no more beef on the counters."

"It's time we take a positive approach," said King. "We ought to quit putting down the consumer and start praising ourselves."

Brownfield said what American farmers need is a "Ralph Nader or George Meany" to present their case.

He also said the recent meat boycott may have strengthened the position of the farmers. "Everytime we got a good price, the farmer would keep producing," he

Indian Confrontation Expected

PAWNEE, Okla. (AP) — Small knots of Indians stood around near the entrance of the Pawnee Indian tribal campground today as the time approached for a potential showdown between the Pawnees and the American Indian Movement (AIM).

AIM leaders had stressed they planned to move onto the campground at noon to begin making preparations for the organization's national convention May 1-5. The Pawnee Tribal Business Council has forbidden AIM to use the campground.

"The laws of the state will be enforced," said Dist. Atty. William Hall, an observer of the peaceful events of the morning. "Adequate steps have been taken to insure the peace of Pawnee."

Hall, who declined to spell out what steps had been taken, added that should the AIM members show up and violate no laws, he would do nothing.

But, he said, should anyone violate any law, "They will be arrested."

About 40 AIM members, led by Hank Howell of Durango, Colo., and Mike Hedy of Oklahoma City, met Monday with Ed Hardy, press secretary to Gov. David Hall, and threatened to send 300 to 500 "warriors" into Pawnee today if the state wouldn't guarantee they could hold their convention on the tribal grounds.

However, Hardy rejected the "ultimatum" while at the same time declaring the state will guarantee the safety of all its citizens.

Demands Indochina Explanation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mark O. Hatfield called on President Nixon's administration today to give the American people "a complete explanation" "of its definition of peace and its plans for Indochina."

The Oregon Republican's statement was issued a day after U.S. bombing of Laos was resumed to counter North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao advances in that Southeast Asian country.

Hatfield warned that "expansion of the air war into Laos and its intensification in Cambodia carries with it the fear that they are a possible prelude to renewed bombing of North Vietnam."

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., said that in Laos the United States "is getting involved again in another civil war" without any constitutional authority.

"I think it (the bombing) endangers the cease-fire agreement achieved in Laos and Vietnam," Mansfield told newsmen.

"I wonder if the time will ever come when we will get out of Indochina, lock, stock and barrel."

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania said the bombing results from the failure of North Vietnam to live up to the cease-fire agreement.

"It is regrettable, but the North Vietnamese in the past have responded only to evidence that when an agreement is made we expect it to be lived up to," Scott said.

Secretary of Defense Elliot Richardson told a news conference that U.S. bombers struck Communist forces in Laos for the first time in nearly two months because North Vietnamese troops attacked a government-held town in "flagrant violation of the cease-fire agreement."

"The U.S. government was requested to provide air support by the royal Laotian government and we have done this," Richardson said in response to a question.

The announcement that B52 bombers are again hitting Laotian targets after a lapse of seven weeks came hours after North Vietnamese and Communist Pathet Lao forces overran a town and two small military outposts.

Pentagon officials said the Communist forces which took control of Tha Vieng were supported by tanks and heavy artillery.

"This was a flagrant and brutal violation of the cease-fire," one official said. Spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim said the Pentagon views the fighting as "a major violation of the cease-fire."

At the White House, Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said only that "we are very concerned about the magnitude of the violations by the North Vietnamese in Laos."

Howell then stalked out of Hardy's office.

Howell had said that a local AIM member in Pawnee had been visited by night-riders Saturday night.

He said calls to the Pawnee city police and to the Oklahoma Highway Patrol were ignored.

In Pawnee, police said no such call as described by Howell had been made. The highway patrol also denied being asked for help.

After the capitol meeting, Don Neome, state AIM public relations director, referring to the force he said would travel to Pawnee as "300 cars" rather than "warriors."

Bus Driver Causes Kids To Complain

Dear Ann Landers: Please print this letter for all 100 of us who ride a public school bus. It was inspired by the squawk from the bus driver who was fed up with unruly kids who make driving dangerous.

This year we've had six different drivers. The worst of the bunch is the one we have now. To state the problem frankly, she can't drive. Also, she needs to get her wrist watch fixed.

The bus is supposed to be at our stop at 7:45 a.m. Yesterday she showed up at 8:05. Three times this semester she appeared at 8:30. Once it was 9:00 a.m., which meant everybody missed the first class.

The other day we very nearly hit a car pulling out of a driveway. Twenty kids saw it but she didn't. This sort of thing happens a lot.

What's more, we are packed in like sardines, two and three in one seat. Some kids have to sit in the aisles. We've signed petitions galore and nothing happens. Any suggestions? — Last Stop In Michigan

Dear Last: If every kid on your bus sends a copy of this column to the superintendent of public schools, he'll get 100 beefs against the same driver. No superintendent can ignore such a protest. I assume your facts are accurate and the teacher of the first class in the morning will verify the allegations of tardiness described in this letter. Get going.

Dear Ann Landers: I'll be 19 in June and plan to be married in August. I should go to a doctor for a complete physical examination and some advice on birth control. But I just can't bring myself to take off my clothes in front of a strange man. Am I nuts or what?

I've made and cancelled two appointments. I became so nervous and sick I just couldn't go through with it. Is there something wrong with my mind? I've never needed to go to a doctor and the appointments were made by a friend who is disgusted with me. Please help. — Deltaville, Va.

Dear Del: There are many women doctors these days and I hope you will call your county medical society and ask them to recommend one.

I wouldn't say you are nuts but I WOULD say you have a hang-up that needs exploration.

Dear Ann Landers: I was interested in that letter signed Snubbed In California. (The woman and her husband were not invited to her neighbor's lovely party because they had neglected to drop a note saying they enjoyed the two previous parties.)

This might be hard to believe but some folks don't write thank-you notes because they don't know what to say. If they only knew that a couple of simple sentences would serve the purpose very nicely. Example: "Your party was delightful and we enjoyed meeting your friends. Thank you for including us."

Often that which is interpreted as indifference or snobishness is actually insecurity. — Ancient Lady

Dear Lady: You speak the truth. I've seen evidence of this time and time again. The same holds true for many people who are shamefully remiss about answering letters. They are uncomfortable about their penmanship or spelling or grammar, so they procrastinate and then they are too ashamed to write at all.

Don't get burned by a "line" that's too hot to handle. Play it cool with Ann Landers' guide to "Neckling And Petting — What Are The Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope. c. 1973, Field Enterprises, Inc.

Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Lecithin Won't Cut Cholesterol

Dear Dr. Lamb — Some time ago you wrote in your column that the scientists recommended that heart patients eat no more than three egg yolks per week. Yet in a popular food book the author says that there is enough lecithin in an egg yolk to destroy the cholesterol in it and we've read this in other articles too. Now just who is right?

Dear Reader — I'm afraid the lady who wrote the book you referred to is not in step with the scientific community or the rest of the medical profession that is concerned with heart and vascular disease. In fact, three of her books are on the "not recommended" list prepared by the Chicago Nutrition Assn.

I continually get questions about lecithin "breaking up the fat" or "neutralizing the cholesterol" and other such statements. Egg yolks do contain lecithin. Lecithin is one type of fatty acid. Originally it was hoped that it would help to improve solubility of the fatty particles in the bloodstream and thereby prevent atherosclerosis.

Dedicated scientists have evaluated this problem rather carefully in hopes to achieve this. The results of carefully designed experiments have established clearly that the addition of lecithin and like products to the diet will not lower the blood cholesterol, it will not dissolve the fats in the bloodstream and most specifically it will not prevent atherosclerosis, or hardening of the arteries, that leads to heart disease and strokes. Publications that state to the contrary do not have the stamp of approval by the scientific community and the statements are not supported by competent scientific investigation.

I personally telephoned Dr. Jeremiah Stamler in Chicago who has been one of the pioneer research investigators in this area and with others carried out a great deal of the research of lecithin and related substances. I have also discussed this specific point with the medical director of the American Heart Assn. The results of careful research have been published in scientific literature and are available to, and known to, the medical profession. Scientists in the American Heart Assn. and other scientific organizations do not feel that the presence of lecithin in the egg yolk or the use of lecithin in health food tablets or from any other source provides any meaningful answer to the problem of atherosclerosis. This is true regardless of enthusiastic articles in popular magazines published without the approval of the scientific community.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Please tell me what foods are rich in potassium for someone with a potassium deficiency.

Dear Reader — In general the fruits are rich in potassium although there are many other sources of potassium in the foods we eat anyway. It's more difficult to design a diet to be free of potassium than it is to add potassium to the diet. One of the sources I usually recommend is orange juice. A full glass of orange juice three times a day provides as much potassium as is often prescribed by doctors for potassium deficiencies. If a person will drink a full eight ounce glass of orange juice each day it will add a great deal of potassium to his regular intake. You can also get lots of potassium from grapefruit, apples, and other fruits. But orange juice is at the top of the list for a common food that contains a lot of potassium.

Rotarians Tour Holy Land

Members of the Sedalia Rotary Club were taken on a guided tour of the Holy Land as the Rev. Robert Magee, pastor of the First Christian Church, retraced his travels with the use of colored slides of the places visited last fall by a tour group which he headed.

The program was presented at the regular club meeting held at noon Monday at Bothwell Hotel and was introduced by Jack Blackwell, April program chairman.

Mr. Magee narrated points of interest as he presented his slides and the significance they held in Biblical history. The tour was made by air and boat travel and included Cyprus, Turkey, Lebanon, Syria and Israel.

Charles Hofheins, club president, received unanimous approval to support the Girl's Khoury Baseball League with a $75 donation from the project fund.

Dr. Ron Shuler gave the invocation and Merrill Strombom led in group singing.

Guests presented by Jess Walthall were Judge Allen Parrish, Marshall, Saline County Magistrate Judge who is serving in this county two days each week during Judge Frank Armstrong's illness, and Mrs. Parrish; State Rep. Peter Stohr, all three guests of Dr. D. H. Robinson; Loy Holman, Sedalia, guest of Dick Lehmer; William Walch, Baltimore, Md., guest of his father, Louis Walch; Jim Bales, Kansas City, guest of Fred Davis, and student guests Jack Cook and Mark Mosier, of Smith-Cotton High School and Kevin Cook and Rick Mergen, of Sacred Heart High School.

CRIME AND CORRUPTION

are rampant in the world and, according to the Bible, retribution comes as a consequence. The world is suffering a great "time of trouble." There is much cause for great rejoicing, however, because this dark cloud of trouble has a silver lining. God's new invisible and visible supernatural government will soon be established on earth, and will make it a new worldwide paradise. Crime and corruption will be abolished, and all men of good will can then have everlasting safety, peace, joy and life. For details write The Bible Standard, Chester Springs, Pa. 19425. Traditional Favorites

A variety of color, texture and flavor is displayed in this regional menu borrowed from the South which features Chicken Fricassee for the main course, Spinach Cucumber Mold and Hot Banana Bacon Salad. Banana Trifle or Lemon Chiffon Pie would make a delightful ending for this festive meal, perfect for the gathering of family and friends this Easter.

Southern Easter Is Family Treat

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

What more dramatic way, to highlight the Americans' attachment to old favorites in food than to note the requests of the returning Vietnam prisoners of war. It was a ritual of chicken, steak, ice cream and french fries. At this Easter time many thousands of families also will grace their tables with favorite dishes that are traditional to their way of life and integral to the observance of this day of religious remembrance.

The global range of restless Americans is boundless and foods served in homes reflect this.

However, regional dishes play an important role during the gathering of family and friends at Easter. In some areas groups will reflect upon the meaning of the occasion while sharing such traditional dishes as crab, ham, pork, roast beef or lamb as a main course.

In southern homes, many, many Easter dinners will revolve around a classic dish such as chicken fricassee. Filling in those bare spots on hungry Sunday worshippers' plates also possibly will be a spinach cucumber mold, peas, scalloped tomatoes and beaten biscuits. There also will be a selection of fruit salads and cream pies such as a lemon chiffon pie or a banana trifle. Sharing these will be guests who responded to the warm "y'all come" invitation to those who are alone in the community at Easter.

CHICKEN FRICASSEE

2 broiler-fryer chickens, cut in serving pieces
1/2 cup flour
2 teaspoons salt, divided
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup water
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon mace
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup light cream
Coat chicken by shaking in small bag with flour, 1 teaspoon salt and pepper. Heat 1/4 cup butter in skillet. Add chicken and brown on all sides. Add water, remaining 1/2 teaspoon salt, nutmeg and mace. Cover and simmer 20 minutes or until chicken is tender. Remove chicken to heated platter. Rub 1 tablespoon butter in flour. Add to simmering liquid in skillet. Stir constantly until thickened. Remove from heat; stir in cream. Pour gravy over chicken. Makes 8 servings.

SPINACH CUCUMBER MOLD

4 envelopes unflavored gelatin
3 3/4 cups cold water
3 cups creamed cottage cheese
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 tablespoon vinegar
6 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon sugar
6 cups chopped fresh spinach
2 cups chopped pared, seeded cucumber
In large saucepan sprinkle gelatin over cold water. Place over low heat. Stir constantly until gelatin dissolves, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat; cool. In electric blender or with electric mixer, beat cottage cheese until smooth. In large bowl mix together cottage cheese, salt, dry mustard, pepper sauce, onion, vinegar, lemon juice and sugar. Stir in cooled gelatin mixture. Fold in spinach and cucumber. Turn into 9x5x3-inch loaf pan of 8-cup mold. Chill several hours, until set. To serve, unmold and garnish with cucumber slices, cherry tomato slices and tiny spinach leaves. Makes 8 to 12 servings.

HOT BANANA AND BACON SALAD

6 slices bacon, diced
1/2 cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons salad oil
1/4 cup water
1/4 cup cider vinegar
1/2 teaspoon dried mustard
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon capers
1 chicken bouillon cube
4 bananas, sliced
2 cups torn spinach leaves
2 cups torn lettuce
In skillet cook bacon until lightly browned; remove and drain on paper towels. Add onion and cook until tender. Stir in oil, water, vinegar, mustard, salt, capers and bouillon cube. Heat. Peel bananas, cut into slices and mix with spinach and lettuce in bowl. Add hot dressing, mix lightly and serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

BANANA TRIFLE

1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 cup sugar
2 cups milk
2 strips lemon peel
4 egg yolks
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 pound cake loaf, cut into cubes (6 cups)
1/2 cup cream sherry
1/4 cup currant jelly, melted
4 bananas, sliced
Whipped cream

In medium saucepan mix cornstarch and sugar. Stir in milk; add lemon peel. Place over low heat; stir constantly until sugar dissolves and mixture thickens very slightly, about 15 minutes. Beat egg yolks until well mixed and stir in a little hot mixture. Then stir yolk mixture back into saucepan and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened, 3 to 5 minutes (do not boil). Remove from heat, discard lemon strips and stir in vanilla. Cool. To assemble trifle, place a layer of cake cubes in bottom of bowl, sprinkle with 1/4 cup sherry and dot with 1 tablespoon currant jelly. Peel bananas, cut into slices and arrange half over cake. Add half of custard.

Repeat layers, cover and chill until ready to serve. Garnish with whipped cream, additional sliced bananas and additional currant jelly. Makes 8 servings.

LEMON CHIFFON PIE

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 cup sugar, divided
5 eggs, separated
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 9-inch baked pastry shell or crumb crust
Mix gelatin and 1/2 cup of the sugar in top of double boiler. In small bowl, beat egg yolk slightly; stir in water and lemon juice. Add to gelatin mixture. Place over boiling water and cook, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved and mixture thickens slightly, about 6 minutes. Add lemon rind. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Gradually add remaining 1/2 cup sugar and beat until very stiff. Fold in gelatin mixture. Carefully pile into prepared shell. (Mixture should be thick enough to hold its shape.) Chill until set. If desired, garnish with whipped cream. Makes 8 servings.

Mrs. Nora E. Caudill

WINDSOR — Mrs. Nora Elizabeth Caudill, 85, died at 10:30 p.m. Sunday at her daughter's home in Grandview.

She was born April 7, 1888, in Versailles, daughter of the late Thomas and Rebecca J. Rumans Hamilton. On March 29, 1932, she was married to Troy P. Caudill in Slater. He preceded her in death, Feb. 16, 1970.

Mrs. Caudill moved to a farm in Henry County in 1943 from Oklahoma. For the past year she has resided in Grandview. She was a member of the Church of God, Stroud, Okla.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Carl Mayfield, Grandview; two sisters, Mrs. Goldia Farmer, Tulsa, Okla.; Mrs. Ruth Henry, St. Louis; and two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Gouge Funeral Home, Windsor, with the Rev. Melvin Hill officiating.

Burial will be in the Calhoun Cemetery.

Bane Smith

CLARKSVILLE, Ark. — Bane Smith, 81, died Thursday at a Clarksville hospital.

He was born Nov. 19, 1891, son of the late Allie and Alice Bane Smith.

He was reared and educated in the Otterville area.

Survivors include his wife, Nina, of the home; two brothers, Shields Smith, Webster Groves; Berry Smith, Montrose, Colo.; two sisters, Mrs. Mattie Ellis, 718 East Fifth, Sedalia; and Mrs. Ida Pile, Lebo, Kan.

Funeral services and burial were in Clarksville.

Mrs. Edith Rose Curtis

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. — Mrs. Edith Rose Curtis, 74, died Friday at St. Anthony's Hospital here.

She is survived by one son, Clyde Curtis Jr., of the home; one sister, Miss Florence Rose, 1503 East 11th, Sedalia; and one brother, Fred N. Rose, Route 1, Sedalia.

Funeral services will be held Thursday in Oklahoma City.

Burial will be in Oklahoma City.

Burial will be in the Masonic Cemetery, here.

Housing Authority Cancels Meeting

The monthly meeting of the Sedalia Housing Authority, scheduled for Monday night, was cancelled due to the lack of a quorum.

Keith Rowland and Glenn Lewis were the only members present Monday night, along with the Rev. Marvin Albright, housing project director. It is necessary for three members to attend a meeting in order to conduct business, Mr. Albright said.

He said the April meeting would not be rescheduled. He indicated, however, that the normal date for the group's May 14 meeting may be moved back a week to May 7 pending assurance from the members that they can attend that evening.

Legislation Continuing Price Controls Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has won House approval of legislation continuing his price-control authority, and administration sources say he may use it to impose a new freeze.

That report came Monday, after the House passed, 293 to 114, a bill giving Nixon essentially what he asked: extension of his economic control powers for a year with minimum restrictions on his discretion.

The administration sources said Nixon has been presented recommendations ranging from a freeze, to tightening of the present largely voluntary controls, to a free market system without controls. The President's decision should come "very quickly," the sources added.

Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz has come around to the view that, in the present economic climate, controls must be tightened, the sources said. In the past, Shultz has opposed economic controls and said that he wanted to see them phased out.

The administration moved to the largely voluntary Phase 3 control system on Jan. 11. Many economists outside the administration said this gave a big psychological boost for price increases. Organized labor has said Nixon should tighten controls now, adding that labor unions will be forced to seek large wage settlements unless strong action is taken on the price front.

Nixon's authority over economic controls is due to expire April 30.

Six-Month Sentence For Kansas Citian

A Kansas City man was sentenced to six months in the Pettis County jail and then placed on one year probation after he pleaded guilty to a bogus check charge in Pettis County Circuit Court Monday afternoon.

Patrick Finnigan, the defendant, was charged with issuing a no funds check for $77.41 on Sept. 30, 1972, to the Osage Thrift Shop, 201 West Main. He waived his preliminary hearing Monday morning in Magistrate Court.

In other Circuit Court action Monday, Nicholas J. Domingue, 18, 319 West Sixth, pleaded innocent to charges of second degree burglary and stealing.

He is charged with stealing televisions, radios and tape players valued at about $1,000 Feb. 27 from McMullin Radio and Television Supply, Smithton.

Domingue remains in the county jail in lieu of $3,000 bond.

According to court records, Domingue's case will be set for trial at the first available date.

Three Students Injured in Fire

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Three students were burned when fire swept through a hallway in Kramer Dormitory on the University of Missouri campus here early today.

Two students, Robert Shafer, 18, Troy, Mo., and Richard Gogen, 23, Fontenac, Mo., were hospitalized at the University of Missouri Medical Center with first and second degree burns. A third student, Larry Gray, St. Louis, sustained lesser burns and was treated at the hospital.

Some 200 other residents of the dormitory escaped by fire escape and fire department ladders.

Cause of the blaze was under investigation. Firemen said there was a possibility it started in a telephone alcove on the third floor.

Anticipate 350 For Educators' Meeting

Approximately 350 persons are expected to attend the annual Community Educators Association banquet at Smith-Cotton High School at 6:30 o'clock tonight.

Speaking to the group of teachers, school board members, administrators and staff from local public schools will be Tom Penn, executive secretary of the Missouri State Teachers Association, from Columbia.

"Disaffiliation of NEA and MST" will be the topic of Penn following the dinner and short business meeting.

Tom Hunter, president, will be in charge of the evening activities.

authority will be shaped in conference with the Senate. But that body also rejected congressional price ceilings when it approved the one-year extension, so the conference cannot write them in.

The Senate bill provides for rent controls in metropolitan areas when vacancies in low and moderate cost housing fall below 5.5 per cent.

A freeze at existing levels was proposed in the House, but it lost, 283 to 139. The House also tossed out proposals for a rollback to the levels of March 16; a rollback to Jan. 10, the last day of Phase 2, and for an extension of only 60 days.

The House outcome stung Democratic leaders there, who had worked in vain for a compromise. Republican ranks held virtually intact, but many Democrats voted with the Republicans—97 on the proposal for a ceiling at current levels.

"We have not heard the end of these issues," Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., said of the House Banking Committee, said after the final vote.

"When the consumer price index is released in a few days, it will clearly indicate just how wrong these actions were here today."

The Labor Department is scheduled to release Friday its report on consumer prices during March. It is expected to show another sharp increase in the cost of living.

Two Sedalians Are Charged in Court

Charges of forgery and exhibiting a dangerous weapon were filed against two Sedalians Tuesday in Pettis County Magistrate Court.

Charges with forgery is Karen L. Laws, 17, 802 East Ninth. She allegedly issued a forged check for $27 Monday to Hoffman Hardware, 305 South Ohio. According to information on the warrant, she allegedly signed the check as Sandra K. DeSha.

Miss Laws was taken into custody by Pettis County sheriff's officers Tuesday morning. She is scheduled to be arraigned in Magistrate Court Thursday. She remains in the Pettis County jail in lieu of $2,500 bond.

Edward N. Newbill Jr., 28, 435 West Saline, was charged with exhibiting a dangerous weapon.

Newbill was arrested by Sedalia police at 2:51 p.m. Monday in connection with an incident at 12:55 a.m. Sunday, according to Pettis County Prosecuting Attorney Gary Fleming.

Newbill allegedly displayed a pistol outside the Main Street Bar, 206 East Main, and threatened four persons. Newbill was first arrested by police at 3 a.m. Sunday on a city charge of disorderly conduct and later released on $100 bond.

Newbill remains in the Pettis County jail in lieu of $5,000 bond. He is scheduled to be arraigned Thursday before acting-Magistrate Court Judge Allen Parish.

said. By cutting back on production because of the boycott, he said, the supply will not become overabundant and force prices downward again.

Most of the audience discussion centered on what farmers should do to strengthen their position. Although the farmers were divided on the merits of limiting production, they agreed with Young that the main purpose of the new organization would be to unite and to supply "the basics of educating the general public."

"We haven't done anything unless we unite," said one farmer.

Two Pettis County residents and Young recently established the framework of the farmers' organization and arranged the meeting. They are Don Shirley, 4116 South Kentucky, and Don Wissman, Route 1.

hope the voice of the people doesn't get lost under the table," was Jones' last comment before the roll call ballot.

Following the vote, tempers cooled off quickly.

Speaking to Jones concerning the political charges, Franklin said, "If you want to get along with me, don't say that because it's not true and I don't like it."

Jones asked Dugan, "Did you know you were a political boss?" Dugan said no. Other comments heard in the middle of the argument came from Garrison and Robinson.

"No one dictates to me how to vote," was Garrison's contribution while Robinson, who attended neither of the two meetings mentioned, had this to say: "I've been here five years now... this looks like an awful bad way to start out." Robinson said he felt the council has been very successful during his terms due in great part to harmonious, intelligent discussion of issues. He noted that the entire city has prospered as a result.

Franklin later apologized for "the tone of my voice but not for what I said." A quick poll of those councilmen who could be contacted after the meeting revealed the following:

Garrison, Dugan, Robinson and Franklin all answered "yes" when asked if they thought the measure would ever come "off the table." Wells would give neither a "yes" nor a "no" answer, saying only, "I think it has a chance."

Jones at first said "yes" and then amended that with "... I certainly hope so — I really don't know."

Ellsberg Explains His Actions

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Daniel Ellsberg says he copied the Pentagon papers while Americans fought in Vietnam in hopes the secret documents would give Congress "The self-confidence to end the war."

The slender, graying Ellsberg, who undergoes government cross-examination today, plunged through his explanation rapidly Monday, trying to tell it all before numerous government objections could interrupt.

He was restrained by the judge from telling jurors directly that his motive was to help end the war.

Ellsberg and Anthony Russo, both former researchers on government projects for the Rand Corp., are on trial for espionage, conspiracy and theft for copying the papers, a top secret study of U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Ellsberg did tell jurors that he copied the study only after assuring himself that its release would not injure national defense and would not hurt U.S. men fighting in Vietnam.

"I felt that giving this information to the Congress of the United States could not injure the defense of the United States.... If I had believed otherwise, I would not have copied it. I did not feel that any of this information could cause the death of a single soldier serving in Vietnam or yet to go to Vietnam," Ellsberg said.

The 42-year-old Ellsberg said the Pentagon study had opened his eyes to the possibility that four presidents had prolonged the war rather than admit failure.

"The President could not allow the war to end without success," Ellsberg said. "The President had all the responsibility for failure. He was a human being.... He, having the power to postpone the war and keep those failures from the public by denying them."

HEW Offers Hearings On Desegregation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Turned down in its third attempt to halt a school desegregation order, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare said today it is sending letters to 184 school districts offering them a federal hearing or requesting updated information.

Peter E. Holmes, director of HEW's Office for Civil Rights, emphasized that the letters carry "no immediate threat of a federal fund cutoff."

All the districts are in 16 Southern or border states excluding Pennsylvania.

Holmes said 19 districts are being given an opportunity for hearings that could lead to the loss of federal aid, 6 others are being told that their new desegregation plans have been approved, and 159 are being asked for information on racial enrollment and faculty ratios.

The U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, following a hearing Monday, denied the Nixon administration's request for postponement of a lower court order requiring the desegregation step-up.

The lower court ruled Feb. 16 that today is the deadline for HEW to notify 116 school districts that they face the loss of federal funds because they have not met desegregation guidelines.

HEW also was ordered to tell another 85 districts by today that they must explain statistics indicating they still discriminate against black children.

Government lawyers who sought the delay argued that HEW had shown good faith in implementing court-ordered school desegregation plans. They said HEW was awaiting congressional clarification of the Supreme Court's busing order before enforcing it.

The NAACP Legal Defense Fund opposed any delay.

The appeals court did not rule on the merits of the lower court decision.

The appeals court pointed out that its order did not mean that federal funds will be cut off immediately—only that HEW must notify the schools that their desegregation efforts are being questioned. Hearings must be held by HEW before it can cut off funds to a school district.

In his ruling, U.S. Dist. Court Judge John Pratt said 74 districts reneged on desegregation plans, and 42 were determined by HEW in 1971 as presumably violating the Supreme Court's Swann (busing) decision.

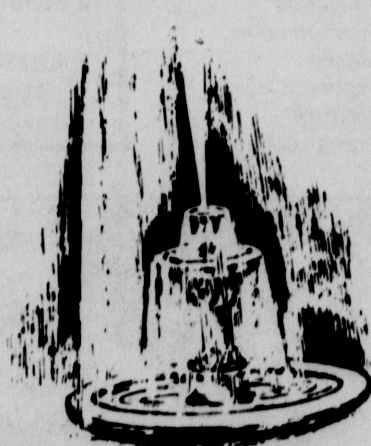

Peter E. Holmes of HEW's Office for Civil Rights submitted a deposition bringing the appellate court up to date on the affected districts.

Seventeen either have come into compliance or under court jurisdiction, he said, and the other 25 were sent letters March 24 asking for new plans.

Lawton, Okla., and Anne Arundel County, Md., submitted acceptable plans, seven others have sent in proposals, one is in the process of preparing a plan, three have expressed desire to comply voluntarily and another appears to be in compliance, he said.

"The remaining 11 districts have declined to submit revised desegregation plans....," he said.

Enforcement action against the 85 other districts would be premature without more study, Holmes added.

Wage Hikes Key Issue for Board

Personnel and salaries were main points of discussion at Monday's State Fair Community College board of trustees meeting.

SFCC President Fred Davis recommended adding $100 per year to each pay step in the current teacher salary schedule. Under the measure approved by the board, the salary schedule would be as follows: Level one (one to five years experience) — $7,300 to $8,900; level two (to 10 years experience) $7,700 to $11,300; level three (to 12 years experience) $8,100 to $12,500; and level four (to 15 years experience) $8,900 to $14,500. The end result is an average salary increase of 5.7 per cent, according to Board Chairman William Hopkins. He asked Davis if some programs might be cut to boost the salaries higher. However, Davis replied, "After you look at the budget you'll find it's about all we can do."

Davis said he would present the salary schedule to the school's faculty Tuesday.

The board went through the routine motion of certifying the results of the April 3 tax levy retention vote which tallied 5,176 favorable votes to 2,391 against. The issue carried Benton and Pettis Counties and kept the district's tax levy at 40-cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The board accepted a bid from Missouri State Bank of Sedalia to purchase a maximum $250,000 in tax anticipation warrants issued by SFCC at three and seven-eighths per cent.

Davis and Bill Rabourn, director of business affairs, were authorized to act in the college's behalf to negotiate the notes at the March board meeting. At that time Davis said the notes would be issued from late April to June and repaid when federal funds become available in the fall.

Later in the meeting the board declined to support an increase in Missouri Association of Junior Colleges dues from $75 to $1,350. Davis recommended the board action. The increase, according to Davis, would pay for an executive secretary who would act as a liaison between the state's junior colleges and the Missouri legislature. Davis commented, "I don't know what an executive secretary could do for us that we aren't already doing for ourselves."

Asked later if he would resubmit the MAJC proposal to the board, Davis told The Democrat-Capital, "I doubt it, unless they can show it will do something for us." He continued, "I'd rather see the money put into increments for teacher's salaries."

Three administrators were given salary hikes of five per cent. Dr. Marvin Fielding, vice-president for instruction, received a pay boost from $22,000 to $23,100 annually. Nila Hibdon, dean of vocational-technical education, was granted a salary increase from $15,300 to $16,070 and Dr. Joyce Fielding, dean of student personnel, was given an income hike from $16,100 to $16,905. Robert Woolery, dean of community services, was given a rise from $14,000 to $15,742.

Robert L. Solomon, who accepted the dean of arts and sciences post vacated by Dr. Stephen Poort last spring, was granted a two year contract at $16,070 annually.

Roy Simpson, formerly an audio-visual instructor, was promoted to director of the Learning Resources Center and coordinator of media services.

In other personnel measures the board approved the extension of a leave of absence for Joan C. Baker, dance instructor, to allow her to complete Master of Fine Arts degree requirements. The following resignations were approved: Joe Petteway, director of financial aids; Larry Keeny, acting director of the Learning Resources Center and librarian; and Tom Gordon, music instructor.

Not present for Monday's meeting were C. R. Leppert, Lincoln, who was hospitalized in Kansas City April 6 after a heart attack, and Richard Banks, Cole Camp. Banks has reportedly been to only one board meeting since November.

Weather Halts Most Field Work

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Mostly fair in the central section. More foul weather, including a near blizzard in northern Missouri, permitted an average of less than one day of field work last week, according to the Missouri Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Planting was only 11 per cent completed — compared with 74 per cent a year ago.

After the snow melted and the run reappeared, the foul weather returned over the weekend, with rain reported over much of the state.

The wet weather has left wheat in only fair condition throughout the state.

Only four per cent of the oat crop has been planted, compared to 87 per cent a year ago. In the northern third of the state, it was less than one per cent. For central and western Missouri it is only two per cent.

Pastures are fair to good — mostly good in the eastern and western thirds of the state, but

Riches enter many mouths in America

Forty million dollars worth of gold in the form of dental alloys went into the mouths of Americans last year. This represented about 4 per cent of the approximately one billion dollars worth of gold mined annually throughout the world.

Latest available statistics show that U.S. dentists used the yellow metal to complete an estimated 5.5 million gold inlays, 11.5 million single crowns and more than four million fixed bridges.

Despite the heavy demand for gold, a total of only 80,000 tons of it has been mined during recorded history—less than a single morning's output for the steel industry.

Gold has always been a scarce metal. Today, with widely fluctuating prices, the problem is particularly acute. Officially pegged at $42.22 an ounce, gold floats on the free market at between $75 and $85 an ounce.

The scarcity of gold has put a strain on all its users and led the dental profession, for one, to look for other metals. One gold alloy substitute that has been developed out of research conducted at the New York University School of Dentistry is a chrome alloy called Dentillium. Said to be equal or superior to gold for dental uses, it is presently being marketed by some 40 dental laboratories across the country.

Nonprecious alloys such as Dentillium will replace gold for crowns and fixed bridges in the next five to seven years, predicts H. L. Myers, president of Codesco, Inc., largest independent dental supply and laboratory company in the United States.

But at the rate Americans acquire dental ailments, there'll continue to be "gold" in them that cavities for generations of dentists to come. (NEA)

BERRY'S WORLD

"It's part of the new inspection procedures!"

A conservative view

'Glorious' victory for GOP

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

WASHINGTON — Republicans chalked up a victory in the House last week that has to be described — in the conservative view, at least — as nothing short of glorious. By a stunning vote of 225-189, the House refused to override President Nixon's veto of the rural water and sewer program. The big spenders were routed, horse, foot and dragoon.

Kilpatrick

Minority Leader Gerald Ford, commanding the President's cohort, had counted on 165 votes. This would have been abundant to sustain the veto and would have constituted a sweet victory in itself. To his surprise, he wound up with 189. The staggered Democrats were 51 short of the two-thirds necessary to override. Speaker Carl Albert, gazing at the tote board, had the dazed look of a quarterback rudely dumped by the Dolphins' line.

The victory was pleasant at least three ways. It marked new cohesion in Republican ranks. It brought an end to a federal program utterly without justification. And it augured well for the President's determined bid to keep a lid on federal spending.

Ford lost only 24 of the 185 Republicans who voted on the question. For the most part, the defectors were Republicans from predominantly rural districts — Andrews of North Dakota, for example, and Wampler of Virginia — whose positions were readily understood. Otherwise, Ford put together a rousing team effort. It was a superb piece of political generalship on his part.

The water-sewer program provides a textbook example of the truism that within the forests of the federal budget, mighty oaks from little acorns grow. The program started in 1961 as an act to provide loans for water systems in communities of less than 2,500 population in 17 western states. In that year, 33 such systems were aided. In 1965, the program was expanded to a plan of both loans and grants, available nationwide for water and sewer facilities in communities of less than 5,000. In that fiscal year, 384 systems qualified for aid amounting to $50 million.

By fiscal '71, some 1,400 communities were leaping aboard a $300 million gravy train. Last year, Congress voted to expand the program to make communities of up to 10,000 eligible for even greater grants and loans. Early in January, Nixon blew the whistle. He impounded $120 million in grant funds. When Congress sent him a fresh bill, he exercised his veto power; and it was this veto that the House sustained.

Nixon was plainly right in his opposition to the program. To be sure, it has its appealing aspects. In Clarke County, Va., for example, the community of Millwood last year got an outright grant of $210,000, plus a 40-year 5 per cent loan of $315,000, to build a water and sewer system serving 228 families. The community of San Andreas, in Calaveras County, Calif., got a grant of $200,000 and a loan of $500,000 for a water system serving roughly a thousand families. Without such federal aid, proponents contend, Millwood and San Andreas would be denied the amenities their people need.

But such problems and needs are universal and they are no proper business of the federal government. "For many years," as Nixon said in his veto message, "local communities have proudly financed and built their own water and sewer facilities. They have recognized that these services are primarily local in nature, and should be primarily a local responsibility, just as local communities pay for their own garbage services and fire protection. Resurrection of the program would serve only to undercut that tradition, shoving aside local authorities for the increasingly powerful federal government."

Last week's victory was Nixon's second such win. Earlier, to the amazement of many observers, the Senate had sustained his veto of an overblown but popular bill for vocational rehabilitation.

Merry-go-round

Conspirators feared Nixon abandonment

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — In secret testimony before the grand jury, Watergate defendant James McCord has confessed that his coconspirator, Howard Hunt, last July feared the President's campaign chiefs were abandoning them and wrote a three-page letter demanding "to contact someone in the White House."

Thereafter, money allegedly was delivered to Hunt's attorney, William O. Bittman, for distribution to the defendants. Mrs. Hunt, acting as the courier, arranged to meet McCord at various places and slip him cash payments. McCord testified that he received around $45,000 after the Watergate break-in for "salary" and legal expenses.

The grand jury is trying to track down who authorized the payments and whether the money was intended to buy the defendants' silence. Bribery to obstruct justice, of course, is a serious federal violation.

As McCord related it to the grand jury, he received a phone call around July 20 from Hunt. "He asked me," said McCord, "to go to a pay phone away from the house, where I could call him, which I did..."

"He felt the Committee to Re-elect the President (was) trying to do him in and to do us in for good and to put us away and abandon us. This was his, almost his exact words."

"And he said that he was going to do, well, he said words to the effect that he was going to now assume a leadership role in dealing with the committee," McCord said he, too, felt "they were more interested in keeping us in jail than they were in getting us out, because they were afraid we might talk."

McCord later learned from Mrs. Hunt that her husband had written a three-page letter which was read to the campaign committee's attorney, Kenneth W. Parkinson. Recounted McCord: "She said that when Bittman read the letter to Parkinson that Hunt wanted to contact someone in the White House, Parkinson said, 'Give us a week.' And Hunt came back and said, 'No, you get two days.'"

"So they said, 'Okay. Something will be worked out in a couple of days.' And that something, it appeared to me, had to do with a contact and it also had something to do with the funding for the defendants..."

Not long afterward, Mrs. Hunt, using the code name "Chris," called to arrange the first transfer of funds. "I went over to her car and she gave me an envelope and she said, 'This is the payment for your salary for five months, beginning in July through whatever it is' — I think it was November..."

"I asked her if she wanted a receipt and she said, no, it was not necessary, that she would be making an accounting to Mr. Bittman for it." McCord also talked to her about legal fees. "They want to know," she reported back to him later, "if you're going to keep quiet."

Still later, Hunt brought up the same question with him directly. Testified McCord: "(Hunt) said, 'we have legal fee money for you.' And I said, 'what goes along with it?' ... He put it this way, 'Everybody's naturally interested in knowing whether you're going to keep quiet.'"

McCord felt this was merely a maneuver to keep him quiet until the election, so he put off Hunt until November 7. Then he decided "to go ahead and take the legal fee money." But he refused to be bound if the legal fees were offered "as a weapon to keep us from saying anything." Hunt urged him to "go ahead and take (the money) and we'll see what happens."

The question came up again at a meeting with Mrs. Hunt on November 30. As McCord interpreted the conversation, "essentially there wasn't going to be any more money unless you fellows agree to plead guilty and take executive clemency at a later time and keep your mouth shut."

He quoted her as saying, "they want to know if more than one year is okay with you ... staying in jail more than one year, and then executive clemency." McCord turned down the deal, saying he was going to plead not guilty and fight the case. "And she repeated this to me three more times," he recalled, "and it was in the context of, 'well, I'm not sure they're going to give you any more money...'"

"The meaning was very clear, that 'Unless you agree to go along with this, you can forget about any further legal fee money, or any further salary continuance.' And I said, 'whatever will be will be.'"

Footnote: After the break-in squad was arrested inside Democratic party headquarters, McCord testified, the higher-ups first wanted to blame it on the CIA. But neither Hunt nor McCord would go along with that cover story. Then there was talk about blaming the whole affair on Gordon Liddy, the Watergate ringleader. McCord quoted Mrs. Hunt as saying she had been told "that there were now plans to charge Liddy. Some type of plans were underway to charge Liddy stole the money and bribed Hunt and McCord to perform the operation. I said, 'well you can pass the word that I won't stand for that ... It's not true. It's not the way it happened.'"

Parkinson has denied any role in getting money to the defendants. Bittman said, "We have consistently refused to comment on any allegations in the case. I see no reason at all to change that policy at this time."

Art Buchwald

Good old days of big cars and lots of gas

WASHINGTON — "Daddy, tell me again what it was like in 1973 when anyone who wanted to could drive a car."

Buchwald

"I know you're not going to believe this, son, but all you had to do was drive up to a gas station and say to the attendant, 'Fill 'er up.' And you know what? He had to wipe your windshield, too, or you wouldn't buy any gas from him."

"Aw, come on Daddy, you're putting me on."

"I'm telling the truth, son. And not only that but we used to have these big cars — three times the size of the ones you see now — with four doors and air conditioning and everything. Some of them got 9, 10 miles to a gallon. I think there are some pictures of them in the encyclopedia here."

"Gosh, those were some cars."

"In those days you could drive your car to work or to the city all alone without violating the law. You'd see people in eight-passenger station wagons all by themselves."

"Is it true you could drive to the beach or to the mountains or a football game 100 miles away without getting a special pass from the Automobile Authority?"

"Yup. One time your mother and I drove all the way to Florida, and we didn't have to ask permission from a soul. We just went."

"What happened, Daddy?"

"Nobody really knows. People just kept using up gasoline and oil until there was none left. I remember '73 Detroit announced it had had its greatest year. Sold more big cars than any time in its history."

"But nobody bothered to tell Detroit there would be nothing to put in the big gas tanks. They said it wasn't their problem."

"It was really funny because in Washington they were arguing about automobile pollution and the emission standards for 1976 when, in fact, the problem solved itself. There was no fuel left to pollute anything."

"Why didn't Detroit build smaller cars that wouldn't use so much gasoline?"

"Because they said Americans wouldn't go for it. They said Americans had always had big cars, and they deserved big cars because big cars were what made America great. Of course now they have no choice but to manufacture two-cylinder automobiles because that's the only kind of car Americans can afford. I mean when gas is selling for $9.50 a gallon and you've got rationing coupons, nobody in his right mind is going to make a four-cylinder car."

"Is that why we moved back to the city, because you couldn't drive to work any more?"

"Yup. We lived in the suburbs when you were very little, but when the country ran out of gasoline we had to move back here. Oh, I tried bicycling to work, but it was 40 miles each way and I was pretty pooped by the time I got home. So we came back. And it was curious because up until that time the blacks lived in the cities and the whites lived in the suburbs."

"Now, of course, all the whites live in the cities and the blacks live in the suburbs because that's the only housing the blacks can afford. The blacks didn't want to go to the suburbs, but the whites kept buying up the ghettos and the blacks had no choice. They're probably happier out there, anyway, living among their own kind."

"Who was to blame for our running out of gasoline?"

"Detroit blamed it on Ralph Nader, the President blamed it on Congress, the Arabs blamed it on Israel and the oil companies blamed it on the caribou in Alaska."

"It must have been fun living in 1973."

"It was. Do you know one time we drove 30 miles just to have a sirloin steak?"

"What's a steak?"

"Oh, the hell with it. It hurts too much to talk about it."

Missing the Bus Meant Safety for Family

By BERNICE B. WARME
MCKEESPORT, Pa. — It was a late afternoon in June. I was riding home on the bus after an exhausting day of shopping in the city. I had missed an earlier bus and was anxious to get home and get supper started for my family.

As the bus trailed its way through town, I tried to look out the window and relax. We passed the local post office, a shabby gray building. The postmistress was standing in the doorway and waved. I returned the wave half-heartedly.

Seeing her reminded me of the complete lack of privacy one has living in a small town. Nothing went on in our town that "Mrs. Postmistress" did not know about and was always eager to tell all who would listen. She's just an old gossip, I thought angrily.

Farther up the street we passed the largest building in town, the two-story, red-brick grade school, girded by a high iron fence. Our daughter had just graduated from it about two weeks ago.

I thought of all the time we had spent shopping to find just the "right" dress for her graduation. The preparations for the graduation party had taken so much time and energy and I wondered if she appreciated my efforts.

Two more stops, then the next would be mine. Hurry! I tried to relax but couldn't. Inside I was full of tension and anxiety. Suddenly I thought, is this what life is all about? Do we rush from day to day, not ever stopping to find out who we are, where we are going and why we are here?

Then I could see my house as it appeared over the rise in the road. Next stop was mine — finally!

Then in an instant the blue sky turned suddenly ominous gray and quickly blackened.

A rumble sounded a summer thunderstorm that was to follow its roar. Huge drops of rain began to fall.

Then the bus jerked to a halt and became silent. All at once we heard "the noise." It was like the steady drone of engines from a thousand airplanes. From over the hill there appeared a monstrous black cone with a swaying tail. With the speed and savagery of an unleashed beast, it headed directly toward us. Suddenly the tornado had struck!

I watched in fascinated horror as the brutal funnel raced across the rolling green countryside, wreaking havoc. Our picturesque little town was being turned into a disaster of broken buildings right before our eyes.

In disbelief I watched the tornado head right for the street.

Dear God, I prayed, please keep my family safe.

Then silence again and the tornado was gone as swiftly as it had arrived. In seconds we were out of the bus and running.

All kinds of terrible sights flashed through my mind — then quite suddenly a small inner voice said, "Stop, look and listen," and I did. Right in the midst of all the confusion I came to a halt. A peace came over me.

In that instant I knew exactly why I had missed the earlier bus. I also knew, with the same inner knowledge, that my family had in their own way "missed their bus" too and were not at home when the tornado struck. God had watched over them as surely as He had watched over me.

I heard someone call my name and turned to see my husband and daughter running down the street. They were indeed safe. Knowing I would be exhausted after shopping all day, they had planned to surprise me by cooking dinner. And on the way to the store they had stopped by to pick up the mail.

Our chatty postmistress had delayed them with all the "latest news." She had kept them so long with her little tales that they had just arrived at the grocery store when the tornado struck. I remembered with a twinge of guilt the unkind thoughts I had had about our postmistress just a few hours earlier.

The three of us then stood there looking at the debris. God had held us in His hand, and we thanked Him for our safety.

It was then I realized the disastrous tornado had taught me something else. I learned to slow down and simplify my life.

I thanked God for showing me that terrible day how foolish it is to rush through life missing all the joy.

Cougars, Stars Lose

ABA Division Winners Find Going Tough in the Playoffs

By FRED ROTHENBERG
Associated Press Sports Writer
In the American Basketball Association, it's disregard-the-regular-season time.

The Carolina Cougars and Utah Stars, who finished the 82-game season in first place in the Eastern and Western division races, respectively, are finding they can't rest on those laurels. Those statistics don't count—at least not to the Kentucky Colonels and Indiana Pacers.

For in the playoffs, basketball's second season, it's what have you done lately. And lately the Colonels and Pacers have been doing it to the Cougars and Stars.

Monday night, Kentucky defeated Carolina 108-94 and Indiana topped Utah 118-110. Both winners gained 2-1 advantages in their best-of-seven semifinals.

No games were scheduled Monday in the National Basketball Association. Tonight the Los Angeles Lakers, who were extended to seven tough games before eliminating Chicago, host the Golden State Warriors, 4-2 winners over Milwaukee, in the opener of the Western Conference finals. The Eastern finals, with Boston leading the Knicks 1-0, resume in New York on Wednesday night.

The Colonels had erased the Cougar's home-court advantage by gaining a split of the two games in Carolina. "We played the whole season for the home-court advantage and we've won that from them already," said Kentucky's Walt Simon before the Colonels went out to protect their newly-won edge.

They did just that by getting 32 points from Dan Issel. Artis Gilmore added 19 along with his game-high 15 rebounds. "Our offense was geared to the two big men (Issel and Gilmore) and we got more production from them tonight," said Kentucky Coach Joe Mullaney.

The Cougars, down by 12 at the half, could never get much closer after the intermission. Tom Owens led Carolina's attack with 17 points.

At Indianapolis, George McGinnis scored 31 points and Donnie Freeman added 29 as the Pacers gained their second straight victory over Utah and their 18th in a row at home.

The Pacers had left the court at halftime trailing 50-47 and were down 67-59 with 5:59 left in the third quarter.

Caldwell Aims Down Court

Carolina's Joe Caldwell uncorks a full-court pass to set a Cougars' fast break in motion, Monday, against the Kentucky Colonels in Louisville, Ky. Caldwell is surrounded by (left to right) Artis Gilmore of the Colonels, Tom

Owens of Carolina, Dan Issel and Walt Simon of Kentucky. The Colonels won the game, 108-94, to take a 2-1 lead in the best-of-seven semifinal series in the ABA. (UPI)

Hockey Playoffs Resume

Wilson Charges Interference

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Interference: a minor penalty assessed against a hockey player who impedes the progress of an opponent not in possession of the puck.

Interference: a major factor, according to Johnny Wilson, why the Detroit Red Wings aren't where Philadelphia, Montreal, Chicago and New York are now—mainly in the playoffs.

While the Flyers, Canadiens,

Black Hawks and Rangers spent Monday preparing to resume their National Hockey League semifinals tonight, Wilson spent the day accusing the Red Wings' front office, mainly General Manager Ned Harkness and executive vice president Jim Bishop, of undermining him as he tried to coach the team. He was fired last Friday.

The Flyers, who just missed making the playoffs in two of the past three seasons and got knocked out of them in four straight games the other time, take a 1-0 lead in the best-of-7 series into the Montreal Forum following their 5-4 overtime victory Saturday night.

And the Black Hawks, kayoed from the semifinals in four straight by the Rangers a year ago, go into New York's Madison Square Garden with their series tied 1-1, having defeated the Rangers 5-4 Sunday.

In the World Hockey Association, Houston hopes to oust the Sharks from their quarter-final series tonight in Los Angeles. The Aeros lead 3-2 and a victory will boost them into the semis against Winnipeg. The other semifinal, between New England and Cleveland, opens Wednesday night in Boston.

The Wings have made the NHL playoffs only once in the past seven seasons, missing out this time by a scant two points.

Wilson, their fifth coach since 1969, said, among other things, that there were constant meetings in which front-office personnel would criticize him and tell him what to do and what not to do, that he quit in mid-season but was persuaded by Harkness and Bishop to stay and that former Detroit superstar Gordie Howe, now a team vice president, was rarely asked for advice.

"I believe they are looking for a yes man," said Wilson. "I blended right in with this hockey club. I figured I was the individual who could do well by motivating the players. But a coach is only as good as his hockey club.... There were certain situations where we just didn't have the personnel to do the job."

'New Hand' and All

Ken Venturi To Return To Tour in Late April

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Ken Venturi says his "new hand" is strong enough for him to renew the golf career that once was so brilliant he was called the next Ben Hogan.

"In August 1970, they gave me a new hand," Venturi said. "It's taken up until now to feel normal. It takes time for the nerves to adjust."

Venturi regained use of his right hand after a delicate operation to remove scar tissue in his wrist. He said he plans to rejoin the PGA tour for the Byron Nelson Classic later this month in Texas.

Venturi, who will be 42 next month, won the 1964 U. S. Open. He nearly won the Masters three times and in his first eight years won 15 tournaments.

Then his career appeared ended. He couldn't swing a club properly. "It was trauma from beating so many golf balls," he said. "It caused thickening of the bands in my wrists, putting pressure on nerves."

An operation to relieve the pressure by rechanneling nerves fixed both hands but the right hand improved only temporarily.

"I had atrophy of the right hand—it shrunk. It was good for a while, but it fluctuated in strength. It was just no good."

Three surgeons operated for 3½ hours to remove scar tissue from his right wrist in 1970. In 1971, "I came back and played in just a few tournaments, but it just wasn't right so I left the tour again. I was like a one-handed golfer."

Venturi, head professional at Mission Hills Golf and Country Club near this desert resort, entered the Bing Crosby Pro-Am this year, but withdrew when his mother died.

His hands appear strong, as though nothing ever was wrong. "I hit the ball about as long as I ever have," he said, "but I've been out of it so long that it's hard to get back in."

Venturi doesn't need to play on the tour for the money. He has a television contract for CBS Golf Classic. A golf club manufacturing business and his position at Mission Hills.

So why tackle the rigors of the pro tour?

"It's been frustrating," he said. "I love competition. I love to be head-to-head against someone coming down to the wire. I love it."

Tight-Lipped

Chicago Black Hawks' defenseman Keith Magnuson is hopeful the Black Hawks are No. 1, as he rests in Henrotin Hospital in Chicago after having his jaw wired, Monday. He suffered a fractured jaw when hit squarely by a puck off a slapshot by

New York Rangers' Brad Park, Sunday, during the NHL semifinal series. Black Hawks coach Billy Reay hopes Magnuson will be able to play in four or five days, probably with a protective mask. (UPI)

Season Opens April 24

20,000 Turkey Hunters Expected in Missouri

(Democrat-Capital Service)

JEFFERSON CITY — Probably as many as 20,000 and perhaps many more will challenge the wariest of Missouri game animals, the eastern wild turkey, starting April 24.

The season will run April 24-May 6. Hunters may take one legal bird (one with a visible "beard" or hair-like projection from the breast) during the first segment of the season, April 24-April 29, and one during the second segment, April 30-May 6.

Each day's shooting hours will be from 5 a.m. to noon. Legal weapons are shotgun using shot, or longbow. All birds must be tagged, either with a $7.80 resident purchased tag or, in the case of farmers hunting on the farm where they reside, with a home-made tag. Non-resident tags are $30.30.

All birds must be checked by 3 p.m. on the day taken at a check station in the county where taken or in an adjoining county.

Although there are numerous turkeys this year, hunting conditions could be tough because of the early spring and lush growing conditions. Thick vegetation makes it tough to see the birds which usually are hunted by calling males in with one of a number of devices which sound like a female.

In the 1972 season, there were 19,680 permit holders and undoubtedly enough farmers to run the hunter total over the 20,000 mark. The total bag was 4,457, the most since modern seasons began in 1960.

The turkey season is set in January and is a calculated gamble to hit the peak of breeding season, when males are most responsive to calling.

But spring came about three weeks early this year and the peak of gobbling and the hunting season may not coincide.

Turkeys are extremely wary creatures. It's estimated they have eyesight about seven times better than that of a human and hearing about five times as acute. They can run like deer and fly like quail.

Missouri hunter success, however, is about as good as any place in the nation. Last season it was more than 20 per cent which is considered excellent.

There are 12 walk-in hunting areas where no motorized vehicles will be permitted. The 12 are Bell Mountain, Peter Cave Hollow, Crane Pond and Ketcherside Mountain in Iron County, Silver Mines in Madison County, Scotia-Marcot in Dent and Reynolds Counties, Warren Valley in Reynolds County, Natural Bridge in Phelps County, Cane Ridge in Butler and Wayne Counties, Steam Hollow in Howell County, Thompson Hollow in Ozark County and Wooly Creek in Barry County.

Open Counties (newly opened ones are in capital letters) are: Adair, Barry, Benton, Bollinger, BOONE, Butler, Callaway, Camden, Carter, Cedar, CHRISTIAN, Clark, COOPER, Crawford, Dent, Douglas, Franklin, Gasconade, Hickory, Howell, Iron, Jefferson, KNOX, Lewis, Lincoln, Livingston, MACON, Madison, Maries, McDonald, Miller, Monroe, Montgomery, Morgan, New Madrid, Oregon, Osage, Ozark, Perry, Phelps, Pike, Polk, Pulaski, PUTNAM, Reynolds, Ripley, SALINE, SCHUYLER, SCOTLAND, Shannon, SHELBY, St. Charles, St. Clair, Ste. Genevieve, St. Francois, Stone, Sullivan, Taney, Texas, Warren, Washington, Wayne, and Webster, total of 63.

Baseball Roundup

Tigers Trim Boston, 9-7

BOSTON (AP) — "It looked like a laugh, but it wasn't," Detroit Manager Billy Martin said of the game against Boston. And the Red Sox' Carl Yastrzemski thinks the rest of the season will be just as frantic—and end up just as tight.

"It'll be a tough race," Yastrzemski said following the Tiger's 9-7 victory Monday over the Sox at Fenway Park, the only American League game of the day. "They'll be there at the end."

In the two National League games, the Cincinnati Reds edged San Diego 7-6 and the Los Angeles Dodgers nipped Houston 2-1 in 13 innings.

"We'll be all right," said Detroit left fielder Willie Horton, who hit his first home run of the season in the fourth inning to drive in three runs. "It's a matter of getting things started."

We've got to work together," Tony Taylor also homered for Detroit.

Boston Manager Eddie Kasko, ejected from the game in the third inning when he protested a called third strike, said: "We're not that bad. We just can't spot a guy like Mickey Lolich four runs."

The Tigers' left-handed starter, 1-2, was relieved after six innings, leading 8-3. "I lifted him because he had a lot of right-handed hitters coming up," Martin said. "I've also seen him faster and sharper."

The Red Sox kept pecking away at Detroit's lead, with Reggie Smith driving in a pair of runs in the sixth with the first his two homers. Dwight Evans knocking in one with a sacrifice fly in the seventh and Smith hammering a solo shot in the eighth. Carlton Fisk then slammed a two-run homer in the ninth.

Tony Perez, Dave Concepcion and Johnny Bench smacked home runs to lead the Reds over the Padres, while Lee Lacy's two-out tie-breaking single gave the Dodgers their fourth straight victory.

Bench's homer, his third of the year, gave Cincinnati its winning margin, producing a 7-4 lead which the Padres trimmed to one run on Nate Colbert's two-out shot in the ninth off reliever Clay Carroll.

In the third inning, Perez hit his third homer, then Cesar Geronimo walked, Phil Gagliano singled and Concepcion unloaded a three-run shot off Clay Kirby.

Ron Cey began the Dodgers' rally against Jim York, Houston's fifth pitcher, with a single. Bill Russell forced Cey, then stole second and Tom Paciorek was given an intentional walk before Lacy lined his single to center.

'That's Enough'

Ray-South Track Meet Cancelled

RAYTOWN — The Raytown South triangular track meet, in which Sedalia Smith-Cotton was entered, was cancelled here Monday, due to wet conditions.

According to S-C track coach Norris Kelly, the meet will not be rescheduled.

The next action for the Tigers will be Thursday in the Capital City Relays in Jefferson City.

Smith-Cotton has won the team title the past two years.

Cancer Changes Life Of De De Owens

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — De De Owens played in the U.S. Open last year, a week after she had a cancerous node removed from her neck.

But it wasn't until the day after the U.S. Golf Association Championship was finished that she found out about the physical battle that faced her.

And while she was in the hospital, for removal of her spleen as a precautionary measure for victims of Hodgkin's Disease—cancer of the lymph glands—she decided there was more to life than golf.

"I matured a lot while I was in the hospital," said the usually happy-go-lucky 27-year-old Atlantan who has yet to win on the Ladies Professional Golf Association circuit. "I realized that this tour is an ego trip. I've watched these girls who are consistent winners and I like what I am and who I am. I don't want to win if I have to change. That's a great sacrifice.

"I no longer need this type of recognition. I'm ready to give back instead of taking."

De De, who won only slightly over $6,000 last year after losing four months to surgery, radiation and recuperation, nevertheless qualified as one of the 49 players competing in the richest of women's golf tournaments, the $154,000 Colgate-Dinah Shore Winners Circle at Mission Hills Golf and Country Club last week.

But how many more events she'll tackle she won't say. She does know, however, that she's planning to work with the American Cancer Society as an envoy of courage and optimism.

"There's always hope," said De De in a moment of serious conversation, "and I want victims to be able to talk about it openly instead of whispering about the disease in corners the way they used to talk about epilepsy and mental illness."

"I especially want to work with kids who have cancer because I relate well to kids and I love people. I like to see them laugh."

S-C, SFCC Baseball Teams Will See Action

On the local sports scene Wednesday, Smith-Cotton is scheduled to host Lee's Summit in a single, non-conference baseball game in Liberty Park Stadium. The contest will get underway at 4 p.m.

The Jayvee Tigers have a home twinbill slated with Warsaw. Fair Community College will be in Lee's Summit to take on Longview Community College in a twinbill, which gets underway at 1 p.m.

Monday's rainout in Liberty Park between Linn Tech and SFCC has been tentatively reset for May 7.

Boston Marathon

Jon Anderson in Upset

BOSTON (AP) — First an Olympic marathon victory, and now the Boston Marathon. America's prestige in long distance running is on the upswing.

Jon Anderson, a 23-year-old Cornell University graduate from Eugene, Ore., shocked favored foreign runners with a smashing victory in the 77th Boston Marathon on Monday, whipping a record field of 1,384 starters.

Following Frank Shorter's marathon triumph in the Olympic Games at Munich last summer, Anderson's success was a big boost to United States running. Americans long have dominated the world at shorter races and now appear coming into their own at distance running.

Tom Fleming, a 21-year-old college student from Wayne, N.J., expressed the feelings of most Americans after he finished second behind Anderson in the 26-mile, 385-yard run from Hopkinton to Boston.

"One-two, USA," Fleming said as he congratulated Anderson in the dressing room before it became crowded with sunbaked finishers. "This is just great."

Despite balmy weather and a blistering sun, Anderson covered the course in 2 hours, 16 minutes, 3 seconds, a noteworthy time although nearly five minutes off the record set by England's Ron Hill three years ago. Fleming was second in 2:17.46, with Finland's Olavi Suomalainen third in 2:18.21.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Rixi Markus is a staunch advocate of the almost indiscriminate use of the four-card major suit opening. Her statement is, "Whenever possible I open the bidding with one heart or one spade whether the suit has four or five cards."

Then she gives an example of a very successful use of an opening spade bid with a weak four-card suit.

The hand was supposedly playing in a pairs event. Her spade opening effectively stole the spade suit from her opponents and after South's three no-trump bid West couldn't lead a spade and led his long suit to collect six tricks in it right off the bat. At all other tables South played in spades and made 12 tricks. Most were in game; a couple of pairs just got to a part score while some hardy souls actually bid the slam.

This hand certainly shows merit to the random four-card major suit opening. Five-card majors can produce just as devastating examples of bad results due to this type of opening.

We will continue to stand by our own theory which is to avoid four-card major openings as much as possible, but not to leave them entirely out of our bidding kit.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

CARD Sense

The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
4♠	4♠	5♣	3♠

You, South, hold:

AKJ10765♥J92♦54♣3

What do you do now?

A—Pass. You should not re-bid a preempt.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding four spades your partner has bid four hearts over West's four clubs. What do you do now, after East's five-club call?

FUNNY BUSINESS

By Roger Bollen

Find New Location For Alpha Sintered

Alpha Sintered Metals, Inc., will not be located off west Main on Metallic Drive, it was announced at Monday night's City Council meeting, but on a 15-acre tract of land at 1200 East Booneville, adjacent to the Missouri-Pacific Railroad shops.

William Hall, director of economic development, explained in the pre-council session that a "misunderstanding" concerning the price of the land at the originally-planned site had forced the firm to reconsider. He added that a little "shopping" produced the new site, which is better-suited for the company and involves more land at a more desirable price.

The change of site necessitated a slight amendment, the real estate description, in the bond issue ordinance. Also required is a readvertisement for bids, which the council approved. Bids on the new plans for the building, which will be minus some "frills," according to Hall, must be submitted by April 30 when the council will meet in special session. Awarding of a contract is scheduled for the first council meeting in May, it was learned.

The new site will be of great benefit to "seven or eight" people living on Booneville Road who have unsuccessfully sought natural gas service, since Missouri Public Service Co. has agreed to supply the new plant, it was pointed out by Hall.

The site will also be an improvement since "there won't be near the site preparation" that would have been needed on Metallic Drive, according to Mayor Jerry Jones.

Included in the price of the land, which was not disclosed, will be an agreement whereby the current landowner, Russell Evans, 310 Poplar Place, will cut a road along the edge of the property and do some site preparation work.

No sewer main will be extended to the plant, it was indicated. Robert W. Cunningham, city engineer, said a septic tank or small lagoon will be required to service the plant's restrooms.

Jones reported in the pre-council session that in connection with the South Grand avenue sewer line Doyle Furnell "won't let us have an easement unless we let him hook on and we can't do that." He said the city is "going to have to condemn to get the easement."

The only other property through which an easement has not been gained concerned the Kentucky Avenue sewer, but Bob Fritz, city counselor, said he expects no problem in obtaining an easement.

It was learned that the hook-up sought by Furnell would be outside city limits, an action which would be illegal.

Carl Franklin of the Third Ward reported on complaints from residents in the 2500-2700 blocks of Kentucky. Franklin said the people thought they would be hooked up to the new sewer line, and are angry that new additions will get city sewer service when they won't.

Cunningham said, "I don't know of any new additions" that will benefit from the new sewer lines. He added that the blocks in question have, from the first, been scheduled for sewer service only through a benefit district (tax bill) just as all other city areas. He said any other method of hooking up those blocks would be an exception to standing city policy on sewer service.

Also in the pre-council session, recent complaints of sub-standard taxicab service and increased cab fares were discussed.

"We really aren't enforcing the taxicab ordinance," Jones said. The ordinance requires any rate increase to be cleared with the council before implementation.

Several councilmen voiced the idea that the price is not of as much concern as the decline in quality. A period of as long as an hour and one-half to answer a call was cited as a service problem. The mayor said he would investigate and report his findings to the council.

In the regular session, bids were read on crushed rock and on a truck chassis with cab, all of which were turned over to the Street and Alley Committee for acceptance of the lowest best bid. The apparent low bidder on the rock was Howard Truck and Equipment Co. was the apparent low bidder on the truck chassis.

Second Ward Councilman Ira Knox was elected mayor pro tem by acclamation.

Robert Vogler, president of Firefighters Local 823 and currently a department driver, asked for and received a demotion to fireman. Vogler declined comment on his reason for submitting the request. Don Meier was approved as a driver to take Vogler's place.

Franklin announced that city street names are now posted in braille at each downtown corner along Ohio. He thanked Missouri Public Service Co. for permission to use traffic light poles, said the project was done at no expense to the city and noted it was done in cooperation with the Mid-Missouri Association of the Blind and Physically Handicapped.

The council took final action on a rezoning request for property near Ninth and Monroe. The requests for zoning changes from single-family residential to general business came from L. F. Cline and George Azar. Also, an ordinance will be drafted to close the alley in that block at the request of the interested parties.

Also discussed in the pre-council session were prospects of acquiring additional manpower for the offices of city engineer and city building inspector. Jones proposed seeking an individual who could do double duty.

"If we're going to enlarge our enforcement of the delapidated building ordinance, it's going to take some time," he explained. "I think it would save us some money if we had someone in Bob's (Cunningham) office" to help with drafting duties.

George Lockett, outgoing councilman from the Fourth Ward, urged the council to take some sort of action to raise the salary of Mrs. Opal Hugelmann, city collector. He said that soon she'll be making $50 per month less than a starting fireman.

City Clerk Ralph Dedrick said it's been "eight or 10 years" since her salary was increased. Don Broadus, of the First Ward, said "I agree...she's underpaid."

Jones said, however, "We can't change her pay during the course of her term." The mayor alluded to the fact that the city collector is an elective office.

"I'm strictly looking for an out...so we can do what needs to be done," Lockett explained. He spoke of the "moral" thing to do.

Lockett asserted Mrs. Hugelmann is one of the most "beloved" of the city's employees and added it would be easy for people to dislike her in her position.

Fritz said he would investigate methods of legally increasing the salary of the city collector in the near future. Mrs. Hugelmann's current term of office expires in April, 1974.

Franklin asked if there were any objections to using whatever city-owned building might be available to store collected newspapers and magazines from recycling drives. No one objected and Franklin indicated the possibility would be discussed at Tuesday's meeting of the Environmental Quality Commission, of which he is a member.

In the regular session, new Fourth Ward Councilman George Dugan Jr., resigned his position on the police personnel board. No replacement was named.

Robert Briscoe, 627 North Lamine, presented a question to the council concerning why he is being denied electrical service at his residence.

Speaking of City Building Inspector W. W. Garrison, Briscoe asserted, "He said he ain't gonna give me no lights, period."

Briscoe said he'd be willing to have an electrician do the job if he would be sure his dwelling would be hooked up afterward. Jones said he would check on the matter.

The council renewed a set-up license for Smith's Country Music Barn and a packaged liquor license for William Dwell at the Derby Quik-Shop, 2409 West Broadway. A new packaged liquor license for Eliene Lyle, East Highway 50, was approved.

CLOSED ALL DAY
EASTER SUNDAY

So that our employees may have the opportunity to observe Easter with their families, your Safeway store will not be open for business next Sunday. Your cooperation in planning to complete your food shopping ahead of Easter will be most appreciated. We hope that your family, too, enjoys a happy holiday.
